

PUBLIC LEDGER

FOURTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1895.

LARGEST IN THE CITY.

Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a valuable property, and can afford to give several "notices" free of charge to those who cannot afford to pay for them. A newspaper is a living thing, and reads and grows wonderful, and it is said "property abiding on the streets shall be taxed at running foot."

THE FOX ON GOATS.

From one of our correspondents: We learn that a man named Sullivan, who bought a goat for five dollars, received a tax bill soon after for $8. On protesting to Rafferty, the Assessor, the latter insisted that the tax was right. The man then read the law carefully, and it is said "property abiding on the streets shall be taxed at running foot."

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in Egypt in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and wined in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

GOVERNOR BROWN FIGURES IT OUT that Boyle beat Toney for Appellate Judge by a clear majority of 201. And yet the majority of the Returning Board voted to give TONEY the office.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL, usually correct and honest, says defuncting Treasurer RAMSEY of Illinois is a Republican. If Mr. WALTON will consult the record he will find that RAMSEY is a Democrat.

PHILADELPHIA REPUBLICANS broke the record with a plurality of 60,989 for Mayor. In the elections over the state pretty much the same thing occurred. There were only two Democratic gains. This is a bad year for our friends the Democrats.

THE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION announces that a rate of 20 per cent. will be made on the property assessment of a majority of the counties. They claim that property in nearly every instance has been assessed for only about 60 per cent. of its value, while the law requires an 80 per cent. assessment. Walk up to the rough, boys, and take your Democratic rule straight. The Frankfort Ring needs money and must have it.

A DELICATE DISTINCTION

"No," replied the gaily girl. "I want his plays."

KNOWS HIS BUSINESS.

Washington Star.
"That's the seventh time this morning, and the sixth number as a customer left the store, and I'm going to be a customer of the wreck on either bank of the stream of death, of suicide, of insanity, of poverty, of ignorance, of desolation, of little children raised in misery, and the constant prospects of weeping and despairing wives seeking a break of talented men of genius that he has wrought, the men struggling with imaginary sorrows produced by the delusion of having, and when you think of the pain of the same, of the sarcasm, of the pranks, of the scoffs on either bank. I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against this wretched stuff called alcohol."

On July 10, 1894, he wrote a grateful letter in which he said:

"I have used Brown's Iron Biters for two months for Dyspepsia—and it has cured me."

On March 5th the C. & O. will sell round trip tickets to the following territory at one fare, plus $2. Arizona, Aransas, Idaho, Indian Territory, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, Utah and Wyoming. Limit twenty days.

TOSEY WILL ACCEPT.

This Is the Opinion You Expresed in Some Quarters.

A special from Frankfort says Judge Toney commission as Judge of the Court of Appeals from the Fourth Appellate District, together with the certificate of election awarded by the State Contest Board, has been mailed to him, and there is intense anxiety to know what course he will pursue as he announced that he would accept an offer under the previous circumstances.

Whether well-founded or not, there is a widespread belief that he will take the office, notwithstanding that he said in his letter of withdrawal "that the mind must be weak and the ambition depraved that would take an office under such a clouded title."

It is evident that Judge Toney was run out of the contest by the reports that a majority of the Board would vote against him; and there is little doubt now that he may be withdrawn.

His withdrawal would he will make the mistake of accepting.

If he refuses to accept and a vacancy occurs it is believed Governor Brown will pick an appointee from one of the three following names. St. John Boyle, Alex. P. Humphrey or Joe T. O'Neal.

CAN A PREACHER BEAT THIS?

Colonel Redford G. Ingerson.

"I am aware that a preacher is not any man engaged in the manufacture of alcohol. I believe that from the coined and polemical words in the Distillery until it enters into the hell of death, dishonesty and crime, that it is the Devil himself who is responsible for it from its source in where it ends. I don't believe anybody can contemplate the object without becoming prejudiced against the liquor crime. All the sins of the world are contained in the wreck on either bank of the stream of death, of suicide, of insanity, of poverty, of ignorance, of desolation, of little children raised in misery, and the constant prospects of weeping and despairing wives seeking a break of talented men of genius that he has wrought, the men struggling with imaginary sorrows produced by the delusion of having, and when you think of the pain of the same, of the sarcasm, of the pranks, of the scoffs on either bank. ## NO CABLE.

The House Knocks Out the Senate Appropriation.

The Struggle in the House Was a Long and Bitter One.

Votes of the Democrats Had It—Statesmen of Them, However, United and Favored the Bill—The Principal Argument Against It Was Economy.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The house Thursday "took a fall" out of the Hawaiian cable by a vote of 114 to 132. It refused to agree to the senate amendment attached to the diplomatic appropriation bill allowing $300,000 to begin the cable.

The struggle in the house was long and bitter. The democratic members of the foreign affairs committee took the lead in opposing the section which had been introduced by the agency of the democratic chairman of the senate committee. For two days the battle raged, and so strong a fight did the friends of the cable put up that its opponents were greatly alarmed, and in a house where no democratic majority, and seat far and wide for delinquent members to appear and vote again the bill.

In spite of all their efforts they were able to muster a majority of less than two-thirds, and majority also questioned that the committee had taken a position when the bill comes up again in the house.

The sixteen democrats who united with the republicans in opposing the bill were Messrs. Meany, Hartwell (N. Y.), Cannett (Cal.), Cannon (Cal.), Cockrell (Tex.), English (Cal.), Osary (Colo.), Harrison (Kan.), Blair (O.), Livingston (Ga.), Maguire (Cal.), McGowan (Md.), O'Neill (N. Y.), Ryan (Pa.), Shellabarger (Cal.), Stickley (N. Y.) and Whiting (Mich.).

The construction of the cable, and incidentally the annexation of the islands, was advocated by Messrs. Storer (rep., O.), Draper (rep., Mass.), Herriman (rep., N. Y.), Moore (dem., N. Y.), Blair (dem., N. Y.) and Smith (N. Y.), and was opposed by Messrs. Hooper (dem., Miss.), Harter (dem., O.), Tucker (dem., Va.) and McCreary (Ky.).

Gen. Slocum declared that if he could no longer labor for the progress of his country, without party lines, he would break them and go where he could do so.

He had done this before, and he would do it again if it were necessary.

The bill was introduced again, the house having refused to accept the senate amendments, and so strong is the feeling in the senate for the cable that it was believed Thursday night that the amendment would be insisted on.

If the senate clings to the amendment, and sends the bill back again to the house, there will be a tremendous struggle to pass the bill in its present shape and form, and the risk of defeating the appropriation bill altogether, which might easily happen in the last days of the session, with each party insisting upon its own course.

There is little doubt that the senate will stand by the cable. The character of its support among democratic senators determines this. Chief among its friends are Gormand, Morgan and others, though they generally carry through any legislation in which they are interested after it has once passed the senate.

Another Whisky Combine.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—The flag on the dome of the capitol was at half-mast to pay respect to the memory of Fred Douglass.

Mr. Douglass was run out of the capital by an enraged mob for denouncing slavery and took refuge with the mother of Charles Illeggbotham.

Douglass escaped by a back entrance of the building, and was received by some of the "best citizens."

Another Whisky Combine.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The distillers of the Western States, who have been in existence for two years, are considering the formation of an association to protect their interests. Thursday formalized an iron-clad association, which includes every distillery in the country of any importance except the Indiana Distilling Co., and that is expected to come in by next Monday.

THE GREAT CHANCE HOSPITAL.

BUCKLEY, N. Y., Feb. 22.—Fire broke out in the Arkuckle Bros. big coffee mill at 4:30 p. m. Thursday.

The mill was not until 7:30 Thursday evening when it was extinguished.

A number of men and girls employed in the mills had narrow escapes.

Supt. Kelly stated Thursday night that the loss, in his opinion, would be about $300,000.

Over $1,000,000 in losses.

JACKSON, Tenn., Feb. 22.—The suit of Mary and Albert Field against the Lake Shore Railroad Co. for $1,000,000 has been decided against the plaintiffs by Judge Douglass. They claim the railroad company negligently caused the accident.

The court awarded $1,000,000 to the plaintiffs.

THE GREAT CHANCE HOSPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The house adjourned out of respect to the memory of Frederick Douglass.

It refused to adjourn on Lee's birthday.

GRAY'S REMAINS

Received at Indianapolis With Military Honors.

The Remains Viewed at the State House by Thousands.

The floral pieces numerous, the most attractive among them being a wreath given by the wife of President Davis—framed in Union City.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 22.—The remains of Minister Gray arrived Thursday morning over the Monon from Chicago at 8 o'clock, and were allowed to remain in the car until 10 o'clock. At that hour Capt. James Carter, the Gray club, Cleveland club, the Hendrickson club, the American club, the Commercial club, the Marion club and other organizations formed in line with a platoon of police leading, and the crowd followed in silence. The march to the state house from the station was witnessed by thousands of people who lined the streets and filled the windows.

The hearse was preceded with a large American flag and the casket within bore the same national token. The salute of seventeen guns was heard as the procession moved along.

Reaching the capitol, the soldiers formed in line and saluted as the honor guard passed. The casket was then passed. The pallbearers were six sturdy militiamen, who bore the heavy burden two hundred yards with manifest signs of weariness. The honor guard, pallbearers, State officials, Matthews, governor of Indiana; Caleb S. Denby, mayor of Indianapolis; Judge Baker, of the United States district court; Frank Burke, United States district attorney; Senators McLean and Williams and Representatives Stake and Bohm.

Around the casket about the date were palms and a large number of floral pieces, offered by the state of Indiana, the federal officers and various chancery and diplomatic friends. Among the most attractive was the wreath given by the wife of the president of the Mexican republic Diaz.

A line of soldiery was formed on either side, and the members of the legislative assembly passed through in pairs to look upon the face of the dead. It was not a natural look that the features wore, for the Mexican embalmer had not succeeded with the art of the American, and a local emulsion.

The casket is of Mexican manufacture and is unique. It is of wood, covered with dark purple cloth, and has brass trimmings, the corners being protected by the feet of a lion. The glass aperture is very small.

When the mourners in official life had passed the casket, the public was admitted, and advanced between the two lines of soldiers standing at rest. The streets were crowded with spectators. A tumult was made in the crowd by a sneak thief to rob Fred Adams, son of the speaker, of his diamond pin, but Mr. Adams detected the act and asked a policeman to arrest the man, who, however, was released and fled before he could be secured.

The funeral will occur Friday at Union City. A special train will leave for that place from this city at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

Gov. Mathews and other state officials will go, and the following will represent the legislature: From the senate—Messrs. Stuart, Holler, Sweeny, Me-Manus and Kerner from the house—Messrs. Melendy and Staatsberg.

All the flags of the state are at half-mast, and those on the state house will remain so until the adjournment of the legislature. The streets of Indianapolis are decked up by the thumbs of Capt. Wm. Davis by the Hawaiian government as utterly fatal. Nothing of the kind occurred.

Killed by the Wind.

MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 22.—David Getz was instantly killed and Alonso Fankhouse was fatally injured near Denville, west of this city, on the farm of John E. Ladd, who was raising a new barn, and had a number of men assisting him in raising the heavy timbers. There was a heavy wind, and while they were attempting to hold back the fast wind it blew over. The frame struck the barn killing him instantly, and it is not thought that Fankhouse can recover.

Tremors in Missouri.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 22.—The committee on governor's election put in another full day's work, and will probably conclude its consideration of objectionable candidates Saturday morning.

The rules will be revised and probably agreed upon Friday evening. There are now only nineteen counties to be acted upon. The subcommittees will vote on Friday night's trains to the different cities in which the votes are objected to.

Frozen to Death.

FRANKLIN, Ky., Feb. 22.—Dr. A. W. Gilliland, a prominent physician of Sumner county, Tenn., and adjoining county, in a difficulty with Buff Bell, a farmer, over a medical bill, was beaten on the head with a heavy iron bar, and his skull was badly fractured. The wound is considered fatal.

HAYWARD'S STORY.

The Noted Defendant Testifies In His Own Defense.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 22.—Harry Hayward was placed on the stand Thursday in his own defense. Proceeding this much-looked-for event, County Attorney Nye resumed the cross-examination of W. W. Hayward, father of the young man, who had been engaged in killing Catherine Ging. He was quite unable to shake the old gentleman's story in any essential particular. William Yule, a gunsmith, and Robert Miller, a jeweler, both of Indianapolis, kindly corroborated the weight of bullet, etc., etc. Mr. Erwin succeeded in establishing that the fatal bullet was of the same weight as one taken from a pistol cartridge. Bill had testified that he had declared them to be long, Mr. Nye strenuously, but in vain, objected to this evidence and Mr. Erwin was jubilant at his success.

At last Mr. Erwin said he had no other witness present except the defendant himself.

"Call Harry Hayward," he added.

With his arms folded and a set expression on his face Harry Hayward took the stand to battle his own flesh and blood.

He said in answer to the usual preliminary questions that he was born in Macon County, Ill., twenty-one years ago, and had lived in Minnesota ever since.

"Now?" said Erwin.

"Mr. Blits has testified against you and Mr. Ady Hayward has testified against you. Have they testified correctly?"

"They have," responded the witness, after his test.

"Is the testimony of Ady Hayward given here on the stand true or false?"

"Almost wholly false."

"Do you know any reason why?"

"Explain it to the jury."

"I object," said Mr. Nye.

"Sustained," rejoined the judge. "I suppose this is for impeachment."

"In the testimony of Ady Hayward given here on the stand was he true or false?"

"Almost wholly false."

"Sustained," rejoined the judge. "I suppose this is for impeachment."

Yards of the Government Depend on the Action of Mr. Balfour.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Lord Rosebery and Mr. H. H. Fowler, secretary of state for India, held a conference at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and the prime minister, who had tested the strength of his bullock team, declared them to be strong. Mr. Nye strenuously, but in vain, objected to this evidence and Mr. Erwin was jubilant at his success.

At last Mr. Erwin said he had no other witness present except the defendant himself.

"Call Harry Hayward," he added.

With his arms folded and a set expression on his face Harry Hayward took the stand to battle his own flesh and blood.

He said in answer to the usual preliminary questions that he was born in Macon County, Ill., twenty-one years ago, and had lived in Minnesota ever since.

"Now?" said Erwin.

"Mr. Blits has testified against you and Mr. Ady Hayward has testified against you. Have they testified correctly?"

"They have," responded the witness.

"Do you know any reason why?"

"Explain it to the jury."

"I object," said Mr. Nye.

"Sustained," rejoined the judge. "I suppose this is for impeachment."

"In the testimony of Ady Hayward given here on the stand was he true or false?"

"Almost wholly false."

"Do you know any reason why?"

"Explain it to the jury."

"I object," said Mr. Nye.

"Sustained," rejoined the judge. "I suppose this is for impeachment."
